

Project Brazen Digital Designer Internship

Role Description

Project Brazen is seeking a digital designer internship to join our team. This job is remote and it connects you with professionals around the world.

Key responsibilities:

- Execute or co-execute design projects based on briefs provided by senior designers
- Concept, design, and develop compelling assets for a variety of projects, including, but not limited to: brand identity systems, website landing pages, printed material, marketing material, image editing, and social media content
- Take designs from initial concepts, sketches, or prototypes through production and be responsible for bringing them to life using your design and development skills
- Collaborate closely with team members from other disciplines that span diverse perspectives; think strategically and apply your skills to proactive problem solving
- General design admin work; management of WordPress backends; organizing files on Google Drive, Figma etc.
- Actively learn new design processes, skills, and techniques; be a part of the brainstorming and decision-making process with senior designers

Requirements:

- You must have a portfolio to be considered for the role
- Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in Graphic Design or equivalent commercial experience (or currently pursuing a related degree)
- Fluent in Adobe CC, especially Photoshop and Illustrator; competent in Figma; skilled in typography, layout, and hierarchy
- Basic understanding or working knowledge of HTML and CSS; some knowledge of JavaScript preferred, but not required
- Possess a basic understanding of how the web development process works; preferably have basic knowledge of WordPress and SEO concepts
- Being research-oriented is a plus as we work with different softwares and applications
- Experience working with Trello and Slack, and experience working remotely preferred
- Stay up to date with the latest design trends and best practices

Benefits

Working with Project Brazen offers a window into multidisciplinary, cutting edge journalism. Unlike internships at more conventional newspapers or magazines, a Project Brazen internship will offer you a real taste of how big things get made, marketed, monetized, and distributed. This experience working in the world of media startups is a unique selling point and an advantage for anyone's career. As a Project Brazen intern, you'll be asked to work on real projects and important work that keep the company moving forward. You'll connect with journalists, producers, scriptwriters, hosts, and businesspeople. You'll get one-to-one mentorship and guidance from an expert in your field.

Project Brazen.

Pay

Pay starts at $18 per hour and up, depending on location, role and experience.

Dates

The duration of the internship will depend on the needs of the intern and Project Brazen. Upon completion, interns can discuss the possibility of extension with the Project Brazen team.

About Project Brazen

Project Brazen is a global journalism studio that produces captivating stories across all forms of media. Founded by bestselling authors Bradley Hope and Tom Wright in 2021, Project Brazen is a hub for some of the world's top journalists and creators. With offices in London and Singapore, the studio has a slate of podcasts, documentaries, books, newsletters, and film and television projects. Recent successes include the critically acclaimed podcasts "Fat Leonard" (adapted for scripted TV by SK Global), "Corinna and the King," "The Sound: Mystery of Havana Syndrome," and "Kabul Falling," which was nominated for Peabody Award in 2023.

Contact

Please submit a one-page CV and a one-page cover letter to internships@projectbrazen.com, and please write Digital Designer in the "Subject" line. In your cover letter, please include at least two ideas for stories, projects, events, or solutions you think could be interesting for Brazen to pursue.